

An evening
of stories,
performance,
and monologues straight from the heart

ASIAN VOICES

With OAKLEY BOREN
ERIC FERGUSON
NATHAN GO
JACQUELINE LEE
SHAN SHI
PATRICK SHIN
ALISON WALKER

Directed By ALEX LUU

THURSDAY
APRIL 21 2005
8:00PM

Village Gate Theater
3223 S. Hoover St.
Los Angeles

(at the University Village, corner of Hoover & Jefferson)

FREE ADMISSION

ASIAN VOICES is the culmination celebration of MY OWN STORY, a nine-week intensive performance/storytelling/writing workshop for USC Asian Pacific American Students.

Facilitated by critically acclaimed performance artist, Alex Luu, MOS works from the simple yet dynamic belief that all human beings have powerful stories within them.

By allowing non-professional individuals who have a desire and passion to express their personal stories, MOS demystifies the traditional view that only professional writers and performers belong on the stage.

MOS participants will create autobiographical art in the context of performance pieces and monologues using their own lives as material and inspiration.

Meiling Cheng, associate professor and director of critical studies at the USC School of Theatre, will moderate a Q&A session following the performance.

Sponsors

USC UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA
Asian Pacific American Student Services

Asian Pacific-Islander Student Outreach

Asian Pacific American Writers Workshop

Hapa 'SC

ChopBlock
 ASIAN AMERICAN ENTERTAINMENT
 ChopBlock.com

Art direction and design by THE MYSTERY PARADE (catalogue n°312)
 Group photo by PANDA MECHANICA
 www.TheMysteryParade.com

More info on ALEX LUU and his workshops and performances is available at www.ThreeLives.info